Steer clear of this organization.
We contracted with Avatar Construction Corporation for an efficiency apartment addition during the fall of 2017. We were promised construction would begin in November 2017 and would take approximately 60 business days to complete. We were made to feel confident in our choice of contractor, signed the contract and made the initial deposit as required. The city then asked for changes to be made to the drawings before they would issue a permit. We asked Nazar to make the necessary changes to comply but he did not. Due to Nazar's reluctance to work with the city officials to make the necessary changes the permit was not granted until May 2018. But he did charge us over and above the contract for the trips made to talk to the zoning board, notify the abutters and for the building permit, all of which were already included in the contract. The addition still wasn't ready in November of 2018. At that time the roof already leaked, water was bubbling up from the floor in the great room due to a leak in the shower caused by the plumber nicking a gasket in the shower assembly, there were cracks in the walls in every room, the finished flooring was uneven, the installation of the moulding was horrendous, there were outlets that didn't work or were installed upside down, the sliding glass door screen never worked properly and daylight could be seen while looking down the upper track. The decks were substandard; they didn't regrade the yard. I have photos and videos for documentation. In addition, there were also wiring issues/fire hazards. A portion of the wiring was laid directly on top of a hot water pipe which resulted in the insulation melting before we caught it. Nazar demanded an additional $2,800 to repair the leaking roof because he thought it was "beyond the scope of the project". We had lost all confidence in Nazar, Brian and the Avatar team. We hired an outside contractor to repair the roof leak. When the external contractor started the roof repair he immediately found the source of the problem: it had never been flashed. Not flashed properly--not flashed AT ALL. We eventually were forced into arbitration then the pandemic hit. It was finally settled earlier this year. The arbitrator found in our favor.

2 years ago, a friend recommended Avatar Construction to me for a commercial property I had purchased. I am really thankful to him for this recommendation. They did the job perfectly, and they even beat the deadline we had agreed upon when commencing the project. This company definitely has some brains in construction, and they are professional.

My family and I were looking for options to build and design several orthodontic labs and additional offices in New England area. We came across Avatar Construction Corporation by recommendation followed by online request for the estimate. It was the greatest find. Avatar team went above and beyond to make sure all details and categories were covered. Nazar Vincent and Sean tremendously impressed us with the knowledge and experience (comparing to the other companies) of private commercial construction. Even though the permitting process took a while (due to Covid), David provided a smooth transition and communicated the operations in a timely manner. We accepted few modifications during the continuation of the project with some extra cost but it was definitely worth it. We loved Brian and Chris for their professionalism and attention to details as well. Our other commercial project with Avatar Construction is on the way. Well done!

We contacted Avatar initially to have a home addition built with a budget in mind, ultimately they far exceeded our expectations and did so under our estimated budget. The high quality of work is noticeable and the crew was very friendly- would recommend!

I hired Avatar to re-side my home, replacing vertical cedar siding with James Hardie panels, a unique siding job for a unique home. Immediately, I was impressed with Avatar's knowledge and experience with the materials given their background doing other commercial and residential jobs like this. Avatar was very cost competitive and ultimately won me over with the detail in the estimate, prior experience, and responsiveness to my concerns. Once the job began, it was clear that the quality of their work matched their promises, as the job site was cleaned every day and they stuck mostly to the schedule even working through some tough winter conditions. When surprises were discovered, they gave me a quick estimate for the change order and were ready to go quickly with a fix. The one area I would recommend improvement was my expectation of routine project updates by the project management team, informing me of the plan for the week and the progress made the previous week. Most of the time, I had to reach out for updates and to ask questions as there was little in the way of proactive updates. That said, overall the experience was very positive, the quality of the work high and we were very happy with the result. I would use them again and recommend them to a friend.

This is absolutely the worst company I've ever dealt with!!!! A 45-day contracted kitchen reno took over 6 months; still isn't finished and extremely subpar work! I can't fit all my complaints in here, but I'll list the big ones. My heated tile floor was installed incorrectly, the tiles weren't patterned, they were loose etc. Avatar had to hire another company to come in, remove it and reinstall correctly. I asked them to check the heating system in the floor before having the new tiles installed, they didn't and my heat doesn't work! My dining room area was compounded, sanded, and painted 4 times, the last two times, by other companies that Avatar subcontracted to and it still doesn't look good. Nazar's employees dumped all their chemicals/paints on my driveway and ruined it. One of his employees urinated in my brand new kitchen sink (I have it on video). This is to just name a few problems. My job still isn't finished and he has instructed his employees not to come back without me giving more money. I have already paid $55k and he just keeps adding on more bogus costs. Please save yourself the headache and go with another company.

My husband and I have recently purchased a single family house in the lake of our dreams, however the entire home has to be demoed and new designed and built. We wanted a five car garage, guest house and a boat house. I stared to look for a contractor and I could not have been happier with my choice and experience. We received 2 bids, Avatar was right in line. They had to tear down an old home and build a new one. The tear down was the most difficult part, but Josh and Nazar were very clear all along about the difficulty with permitting on a lake with the Wetland Conservation commitee. Once the demo was done,it took a while to get the rest of permits competed. I had no idea this would be so complicated. Avatar team was incredibly responsive, and very accommodating to some changes we wanted to make along the way. The quality of the work is really good. I would highly recommend Avatar Construction.
